

First, we saw three traditional dances that show the variety of our culture: the Marinera, which represents love and elegance; the Carnaval de Congalla, full of color and joyful people — this dance is strong but not difficult — and comes from the Andes; and the Festejo, which expresses the energy and happiness of Afro-Peruvian music.

Then, we saw three great athletes: Gladys Tejeda, a strong and hard-working runner; Paolo Guerrero, the heart of Peruvian football and the captain of the Peruvian national team, who gives everything for his country; and Ángela Leyva, a young volleyball player who inspires many people with her talent and energy.
